in this profound look at the scripture charles capps reveals how to release god s goodness in your own life he clearly outlines that speaking the truth of god s word even when times are tough works together with our faith to bring victory every time confessing what god said in his word out of a heart full of faith will bring god s supernatural intervention the balance of faith and confession working together is essential for living the abundant life that god has promised this is an interdisciplinary collection of previously unpublished papers on the controversial relationship between religious behavior and mental health schumaker has assembled a distinguished international roster of contributors sociologists and anthropologists as well as psychiatrists and psychologists of religion representing a wide range of opinions concerning the mental health implications of religious belief and practice taken together the papers provide a comprehensive overview of theory and research in the field included are papers on the interaction of religion and self esteem life meaning and well being sexual and marital adjustment anxiety depression suicide psychoticism rationality self actualization and various patterns of anti social behavior religion is also dealt with in relation to mental health of women the elderly and children contributions dealing with mental health in non western religious groups add an important cross cultural dimension to the volume religious mourning is about a common experience among those who study religion religious loss when people of faith study religion critically or when life experiences such as death and divorce trigger personal reflection on faith religious intellectuals often become estranged from their own tradition sometimes this estrangement causes them to leave religion altogether but for those who study religion from a psychological perspective a certain kind of introspective and iconoclastic religiosity can be revived by means of academic writing religious mourning explores this phenomenon by focusing on psychobiographical writings about religious leaders including donald capps portrait of jesus of nazareth james dittes portrait of saint augustine and william bouwsma s portrait of john calvin to show how these authors personal lives and especially their experiences of loss influence their scholarship as capps dittes and bouwsma subversively scavenge the lives of jesus augustine and calvin to reverse and restore a religion that is rich with experience including and especially their own they invite us to do the same name it and claim it just have faith give and you will get catchphrases like this have convinced many christians that trusting in god will bring health and wealth but the gospel does not promise prosperity without pain or salvation without sanctification femi adeleye draws on his wide ranging experience as he examines the appeal and peril of this new gospel of prosperity that has made deep inroads in africa as well as in the west the essays in augustine and psychology edited by sandra lee dixon john doody and kim paffenroth relate st augustine to the modern theory and practice of psychology in several ways the contributors analyze augustine s own examination of himself and occasionally others to see to what extent he himself was a doctor or practiced therapy in ways that we can recognize and appreciate they find connections between his theories of memory and mind and modern theories of the same they consider the influences and context in which he worked and how those affected him and his ideas of the mind and soul and lastly the contributors subject st augustine to the scrutiny of modern psychoanalysis and critique such scrutiny where appropriate
