this is the first monographic study of dostoevsky's writer's diary fyodor dostoevsky dedicated ten years of his life to the diary which is about 1 200 pages long and is one of his most important works the key problem of its study is the problem of textual unity and cohesion the writer repeatedly referred to this work as a single text and a unity but at the same time the diary consists of chapters sections and short stories which are different in style message and form in the thesis i make an attempt to solve this problem and to prove that the diary is a cohesive text including its concept chapter one references chapter two structure chapter three and semantics chapter four the first chapter is dedicated to the history of the diary s creation and major concepts of its organization including early approaches to its general concept thee treatment of this work as a unity history of dostoevsky s taking the work at the citizen and the diary after 1875 the second chapter investigates relatedness of reference including time space and narration type the third chapter presents the analysis of structural coherence in particular inter textual and extra textual references and links the fourth chapter proves the unity of journalism fact and fiction in a writer s diary by f dostoevsky in the conclusions i argue that dostoevsky developed in his diary a genuinely new form in russian literature which may be identified as fictional journalism
