the first truly global history of work an upbeat assessment from the age of the hunter gatherer to the present day we work because we have to but also because we like it from hunting gathering over 700 000 years ago to the present era of zoom meetings humans have always worked to make the world around them serve their needs jan lucassen provides an inclusive history of humanity s busy labor throughout the ages spanning china india africa the americas and europe lucassen looks at the ways in which humanity organizes work in the household the tribe the city and the state he examines how labor is split between men women and children the watershed moment of the invention of money the collective action of workers and at the impact of migration slavery and the idea of leisure from peasant farmers in the first agrarian societies to the precarious existence of today s gig workers this surprising account of both cooperation and subordination at work throws essential light on the opportunities we face today class passing draws on dozens of examples from popular culture from old movie classics and contemporary films to print ads and cyberspace to illustrate how flagrant displays of wealth that were once unacceptable under the old rules of behavior are now flaunted by class passing celebrities book jacket taking back desire studies film television and video art texts through a lacanian prism to restore a sense of queer as troubling identity and resistance to neoliberal forms of inclusion james lawrence slattery illuminates how the framing of desire identity enjoyment resistance and knowledge contribute to the investment in neoliberal formations of being and success despite the corrosive effects neoliberalism has had for much of society the book does not read queerness on screen as a discernible group of characters or narrative formulas but as a point that meaning fails in the visual and temporal field examining the interrelation of the real the imaginary and the symbolic in contemporary politics and contemporary media slattery investigates how a diverse selection of moving image texts forge queerness as a relationship to the lack while crucially resisting the creation of a new or definitive canon taking back desire will be essential reading for academics and scholars of freudian and lacanian psychoanalysis queer theory late capitalism film television and media studies sexuality studies critical race theory cultural studies and feminist theory
