this title was first published in 2000 the 1997 election marked the prospect of a new era in social welfare the possibility of establishing a third phase in the post war history of the welfare state the first being the creation of the keynesian welfare state the second the thatcher major neo liberal reforms the key aim of this book is to critically explore the options for the future of welfare under new labour the welfare state that the government inherited from the conservatives is widely believed to be in a critical condition at the same time there is evidence of widening social inequality in Britain which existing social policy measures fail to address whilst acknowledging that future welfare strategies are likely to operate within a market paradigm the key argument of this book is that welfare providers should operate within a more accountable and democratic environment where service users have the right to participate in decision making processes affecting their welfare regardless of the ability to pay the book concludes that the dominant discourse shaping social policy in Britain must be recognized and should not be accepted uncritically and that there are very real economic as well as social benefits from taking measures to address social disadvantage this remarkable biography features a white American pacifist minister whose tireless work for justice and human rights helped reshape Black civil rights in the U.S. and Africa George M. Houser 1916-2015 was one of the most important civil rights and antiwar activists of the twentieth century a conscientious objector during World War II in 1942 Houser cofounded and led the Congress of Racial Equality core whose embrace of nonviolent protest strategies and tactics characterized the modern American civil rights movement beginning in the 1950s Houser played a critical role in Pan-Africanist anticolonial movements and his more than thirty year dedication to the cause of human rights and self-determination helped prepare the ground for the toppling of the South African apartheid regime throughout his life Houser shunned publicity preferring to let his actions speak his faith Sheila Collins's well researched biography recounts the events that informed Houser's life of activism from his childhood experiences as the son of missionaries in the Philippines to his early grounding in the Social Gospel and the teachings of Mohandas Gandhi in light of the corruption the U.S. and the world face today Houser's story of faith and decisive action for human rights and social justice is one for our time in the 1990s many evangelical christian organizations and church leaders began to acknowledge their long history of racism and launched efforts at becoming more inclusive of people of color while much of this racial reconciliation movement has not directly confronted systemic racism's structural causes there exists a smaller countermovement within evangelicalism primarily led by women of color who are actively engaged in antiracism and social justice struggles in unreconciled andrea smith examines these movements through a critical ethnic studies lens evaluating the varying degrees to which evangelical communities that were founded on white supremacy have addressed racism drawing on evangelical publications sermons and organization statements as well as ethnographic fieldwork and participation in evangelical events smith shows how evangelicalism is largely unable to effectively challenge white supremacy due to its reliance upon discourses of whiteness at the same time the work of progressive evangelical women of color not only demonstrates that evangelical christianity can be an unexpected place in which to find theoretical critique and social justice organizing but also shows how critical ethnic studies interventions can be applied broadly across political and religious divides outside the academy this well-crafted book probes the key dimensions of africa's existential predicament it constitutes an intellectual response to a gnawing african situation the starting point for grasping africa's social and religious quest beyond split explanations of external versus internal factors e.g. colonization slavery vs leadership cultural values this study accounts more comprehensively for emergent issues shaping this situation the situation reflects a gamut of problems in traditional african religion and material culture which hitherto defines african communality politics and destinies vis à vis the cosmos and nature thus african religion and communities each with its own attendant values do not operate by critical engagement with larger issues of society and civilization especially those shaped by the advent of post modernity rather they operate via adaptation the communal drive for natural and social harmony inevitably produces a preservationist view of culture leaving things as they are this study takes an integrative approach to religion society and civilization eschews dichotomies and broadly defines and re signifies life and wholeness as a true end of africans quest today winner of the word guild award in the category of christian leadership in 2011 why does it feel like most of the world today considers irrelevant the gospel we cherish and so faithfully proclaim in our churches why do our christian responses fail to satisfy the heart quests of our neighbors does the shallowness of our neatly packaged answers alienate us from them and from each other more questions than answers offers the hope of reconciliation through exploring how we can develop listening relationships walking together in what becomes a spiritual accompaniment we learn to attune ourselves to one another and to the spirit within us then we dare to reach across the chasm that separates us and discover an authentic faith emerges
