General George S. Patton once said to his men when your grandchildren ask you what you did in the war you can tell them I fought with Patton. Patton like all other generals in this book was proud of the role he and his men played in winning World War II from the deserts of North Africa where the allies first defeated the Germans to D-Day landing and the invasion of Europe. American generals led their men through some of the bloodiest battles in world history. Readers learn more about ten American military legends: Henry H. Arnold, Omar N. Bradley, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Curtis E. Lemay, Douglas MacArthur, George C. Marshall, George S. Patton, Matthew B. Ridgway, Holland M. Smith, Joseph W. Stilwell.

Across the world, hundreds of botanic gardens combine scientific research, conservation, and beauty with public access. With Kew Gardens alone attracting around one million visitors a year for centuries, they have variously focused on cultivating medicinal and exotic plants, introducing lucrative crops such as tea and rubber to new countries, preserving international plant collections, scientific classification and research, or have combined all these things. Sarah Rutherford here tells their story from the sixteenth century up to their long heyday in the last two hundred years. She explains the gardens' design and architecture, the personalities and institutions associated with them, their important role in research and conservation, and their appeal to millions of visitors.
